

Susan Reinhardt is also author of “Not Tonight Honey, Wait ‘Til I’m a Size 6,” now in its 5th printing.

She is the mother of two precious children, ages 14 and 9, and enjoys anything related to water except snakes.

Reinhardt is a community volunteer, a member of the PTA and the Read it or Not, Here We Come Book Club.

She is a regular public speaker, having done a keynote address for the Erma Bombeck Writers Convention in Ohio last year.

Reinhardt is available to speak to large corporations or small groups. Her topics are “Healing Through Humor,” and “Out of the Darkness,” which delves into her battles with depression and other illnesses. It is her mission to bring these issues out of the closet, to remove the stigma, and enlighten others so they may get help and find joy in their lives.

She also does stand-up comedy and loves being a guest on radio shows, many national programs inviting her to join them.

She is a syndicated columnist and has won dozens of awards.

To book her call 1-828-232-5844.

